1993 CASTLETONIAN

Volume 43

CASTLEWOOD HIGH SCHOOL

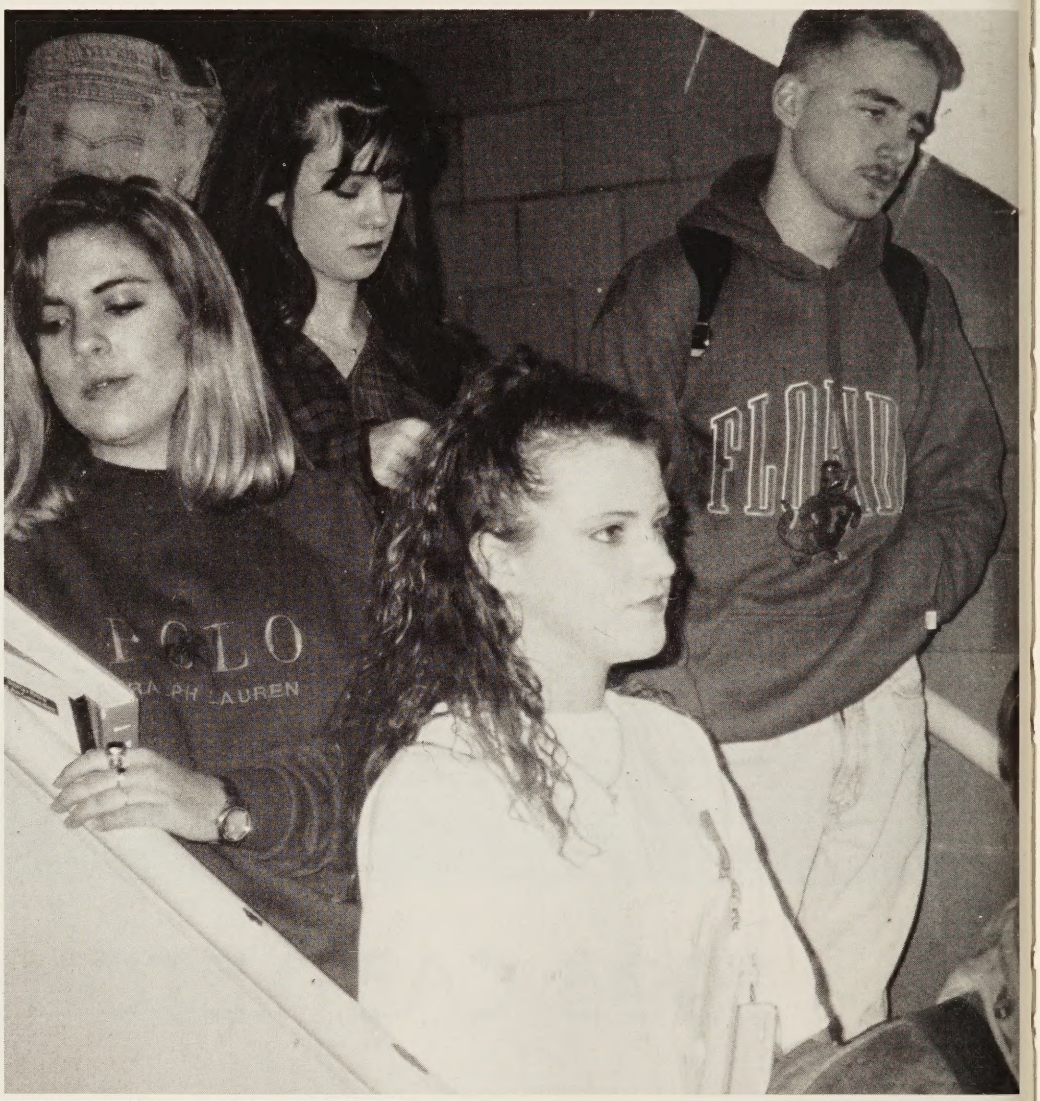
Castlewood, Virginia 24224

RUSSELL COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY
P. O. BOX 247
LEBANON, VA 24266

It's Not Whether You Win or Lose. . .

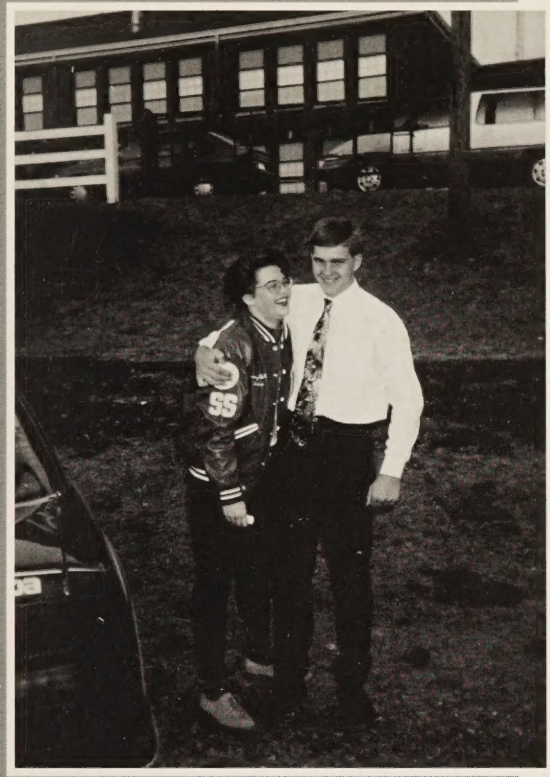
As you turn through the pages of this yearbook, take a look at each and every individual. There is something different and special about each one. This fact is what makes "Life" so interesting. Everyone plays the game differently. You may get a "Clue" to what the future holds for everyone. Someone may wheel a fortune or buy stock and become a millionaire. There may be a detective lurking in the pages, or even a future proprietor of a railroad. Who knows? There may be an owner of a "Monopoly." One of us may become a doctor and have to perform an "Operation." Of course we hope none of our fellow students will ever be in "Jeopardy" or have to "Go to Jail." Who knows what the future may bring; but for now just pull up a chair, gather around the game board, and advance two spaces to begin this game of "Life."

Kim Mullins



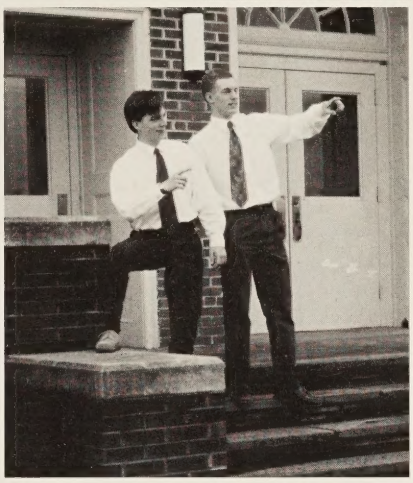
Where to next? . . . Amber Arney, Renee Skeens, Jessica Stapleton, and Toby Pruitt look very enthusiastic about going to their next class.

You're kidding. . .Nikki Thomas looks amazed as Cindy Baker, and Alicia Talford tell her some unbelievable story.



She's mine. . .Danny Bell gives a look that lets everyone know that Mary Hicks is already taken.

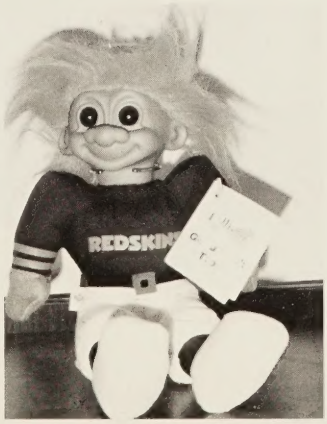
Did you get those ties on sale. . .Brett Talbert and Brian Townes look like they are posing for the Sear's catalog.



The gang's all here. . .The physics and chemistry students and their sponsors seem to be enjoying their time spent together.

Lean on me. . .Coach Allen lends Crystal Proffitt and Buffie Dorton a shoulder after their strenuous day in gym.

Go, Team, Go. . .The "Skins" troll is just one of the members of the Troll family who will be leading you through the '93 Castletonian.



The Legend Lives On

"It was the best of times; it was the worst of times." The school year of 1992-93 brought many changes to Castlewood High School. Some were considerably favorable and some were not so favorable, but no change affected the faculty, staff, and students at CHS as much as the drastic change in administration. For sixteen years, Mr. Banner roamed the halls of Castlewood High School enforcing rules and regulations and trying to keep everyone happy. He went out of his way for the benefit of each and every student. He did much for people without recognition. As of April 1, 1993, Mr. Banner was transferred to the Russell County Office for Alternative Education. Some might consider this change a "step-up", but to the students at CHS, it is a farewell to a very dear friend. Mr. Banner will be missed very much, and for this reason, the 1993 Castletonian staff proudly dedicates their yearbook to Mr. Steve Banner and wishes him the best in his new job.

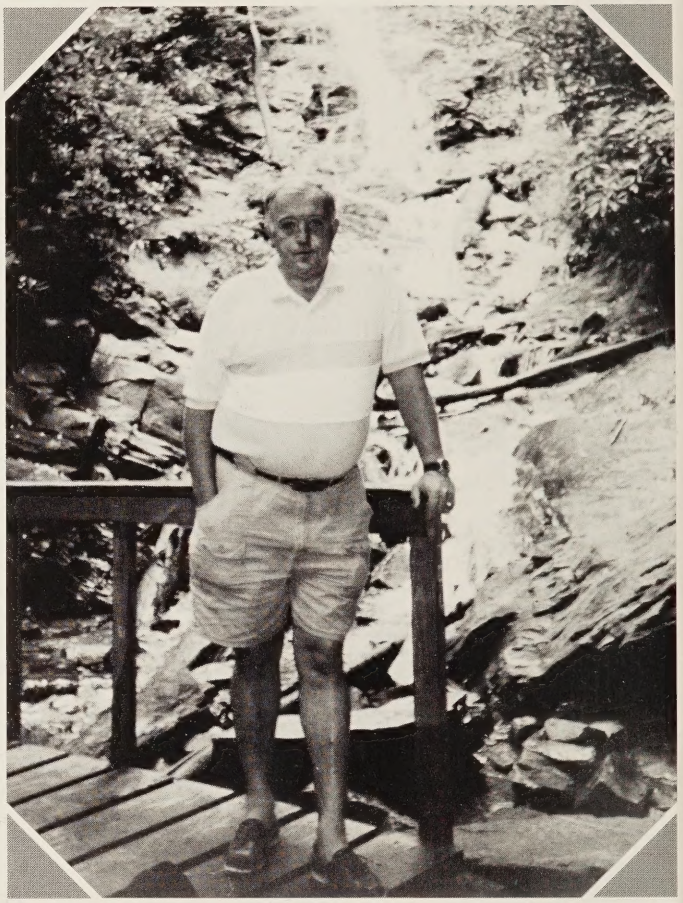
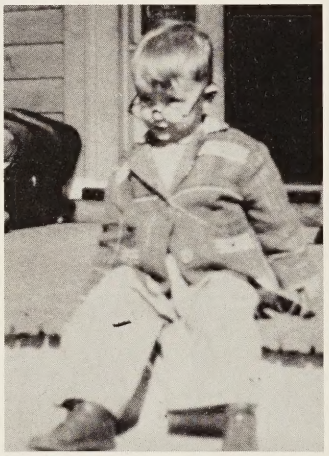
Kim Mullins



A free day... Mr. Banner takes some time off to visit a beautiful and peaceful spot.



I didn't do it... Mr. Banner used the same looks on his parents that his students use on him to get out of trouble.

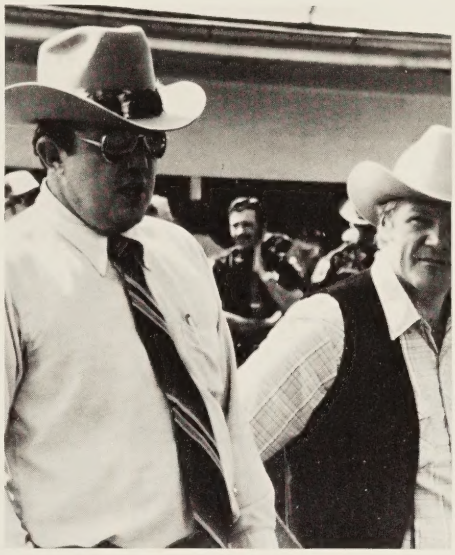
"Mr. Banner made my years at CHS special and I know he'll be missed."
Kim Mullins

Ol'buddy, Ol'pal... Mr. Banner and Mr. Milton share a laugh and a memory at one of the proms.

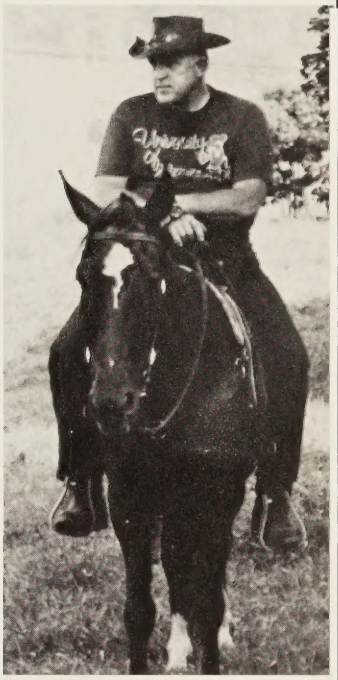
Your new mayor is...Mr. Banner proudly displays his balloon to show his accomplishment.

Team leaders. . . Mr. Banner was a coach of the Blue Devil football team along with Mr. Wells and the late Buddy Poole.

The Lone Ranger and Tonto. . . Mr. Banner and Mr. Hensdill dress in style for an outing.



Hi, ho, Silver. . . Mr. Banner relaxes with a ride around the farm on his favorite horse.



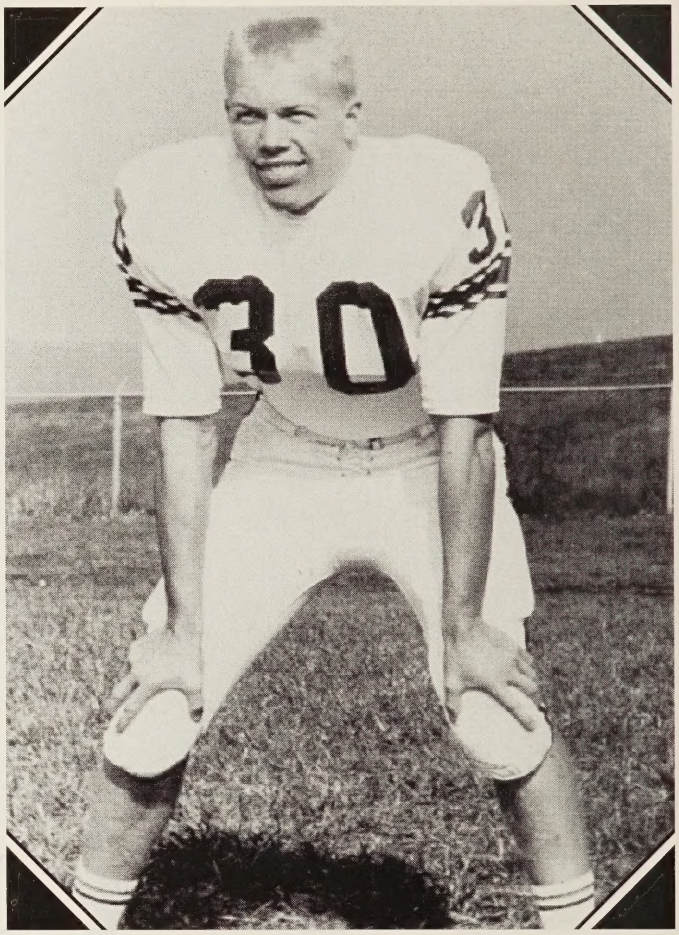
Home, sweet, office. . . Mr. Banner tackles the endless paperwork with a smile.

Remembering The Good Times

Mr. Dennis Hensdill, after serving twenty-one years at CHS was transferred to the position of principal at Oak Grove and Copper Creek Elementary Schools. Mr. Hensdill also acted as Athletic Director of CHS. He truly cared and worked for the success of the athletic program.

If there has ever been an individual who loved Castlewood High School, this was the man and he has made a difference. To those students who have never known any other assistant principal at CHS this change will be hard to take. He will be missed beyond explanation, but the faculty, staff, and students at CHS wish him the very best in his new endeavor.

Bethanie Bratton



Ready, set, hut. . .In his younger days, Mr. Hensdill was quite an athlete.

Please, Santa Clause. . .Mr. Banner anxiously tells Santa (Mr. Hensdill) what is on his Christmas list.

It's a hard way to make an easy living. . .Mr. Banner, Buddy Poole, and Mr. Hensdill strike up a tune for the students.

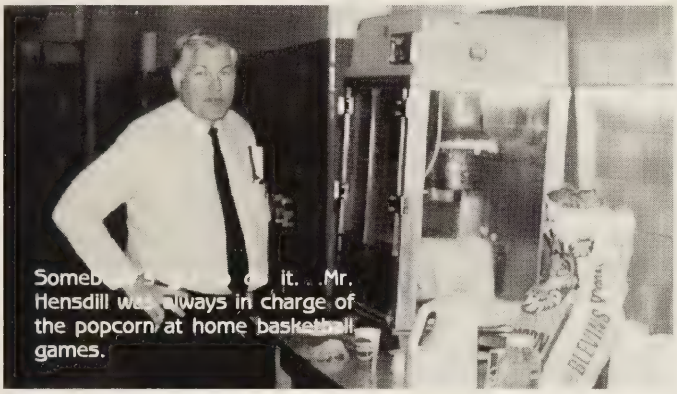
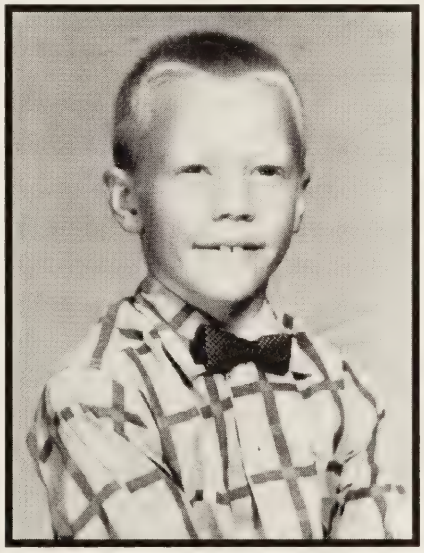
Where are you supposed to be?. . .Mr. Hensdill monitors the halls of CHS carefully.



Somebody has to do it. . .Mr. Hensdill was always in charge of the popcorn at home basketball games.



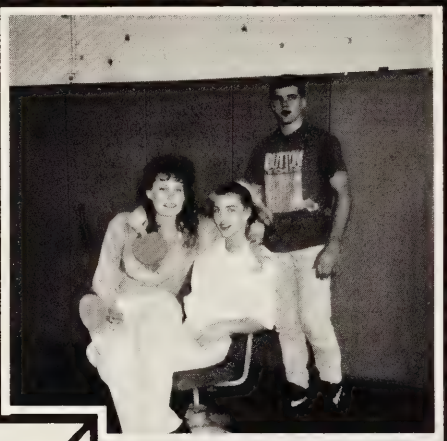
Too cute for school. . .Mr. Hensdill was a charming young man at the age of six.

Serve you, please. . .Mr. Hensdill and Coach Kiser prepare the food for the athletic banquet.

The Name of the Game is . . .

LIFE at CHS has a distinct variation of students. From the DOUBLE DRIBBLING athletes to the CLASSIC CONCENTRATING academic achievers, CHS is set apart from all others. They have been dealt all of the knowledge necessary to become a player in the game of LIFE.

Michelle James



Let me give you a push . . . Danny Bell offers his assistance to Buffie Dorton and Kim Mullins after a battling game of ping-pong.

Umm Umm good . . . Jason Alderson is chowing down after being on a strict diet during wrestling season.

UNIQUE PEOPLE

You'd better duck!. . .Chris Alexander and Brian Townes celebrate the early dismissal of school with a snowball fight.

Chutes and Ladders

After years of climbing they have finally arrived. The Eighth grade class was very nervous at the thought of being at the bottom of the ladder once more. The Eighth graders do have one advantage over all the other classes, the fact that they have a large class.

Each Eighth grader had many new things which they wished to experience. Many play sports, participate in band or choir, or belong to one of the clubs here at CHS. All students know that in order to move up the ladder they must accomplish certain goals on each step.

After the fear of being in a new place passed, the Eighth graders took their place here at CHS. Each student in the Eighth grade has what it takes to climb the ladder to S-U-C-C-E-S-S.

"RISK"ing Life and Limb

The 1992-93 Freshman class felt that sliding down the ladder a few times was worth the "risk" to finally earn the title of Freshman. Fresh means a new start and with this in mind, the Freshman entered Castlewood High School in August with smiles on their faces and their friends by their sides.

With a notebook in one hand and a pencil in the other, the Freshmen set out to conquer new territory. They are no longer Eighth graders and have established new grounds and are working their way to the top. They have found their place here at CHS.

Roudy, Insecure, Shy, and Kind are just a few of the characteristics of this year's Freshman class. And without a doubt this class is one of a kind.

Test Drive

As the Sophomore class matures, they realize that they must pull together and strive to become more grown up. They are reaching for higher goals, as some begin to prepare for college by taking the PSAT tests. They watch their dreams become realities as they order classrings, and anticipate next year's prom. They also work hard to complete the requirements to see their "Sweet Sixteen" dreams of driving come true. Then one by one, they prove themselves to be trustworthy and receive their driver's licenses.

Sophomores will experience many sides to life this year, and can expect to experience many more in the years to come. However, they can never forget their 10th grade year, all of its memories, and their first Test Drive.

Stacking the Cards for Success

They are Juniors now and have only one year left. Most are driving, dating, and having later curfews. They are having many more responsibilities in their lives and making the best of them. In looking back at the years they have spent together, they could never forget any of them, either good or bad. Now they are deciding on colleges they would like to attend, taking the SAT, and deciding on their future occupations. This Junior class is a hard-working class and does not give up easily. They have set important goals that they will reach.

In October the Juniors received their classrings and enjoyed showing them off to one another. To celebrate, Balfour threw a class-ring pizza party for the entire Junior class.

This will also be the class's very first "Junior-Senior Prom". They are excited, nervous, and yet fascinated.

Even though they have one year to go and still do not know "The Name of the Game", this Junior class will surely never give up when they finally become players in the game of life.

Masters of the Game

Within the barriers of CHS there is a profound group of professionals. They strive for perfection and try their hardest to bring out the best in the students of CHS.

The faculty of CHS are hard-working individuals that are friends as well as teachers. They are always there when a student needs help or just needs someone to turn to. Even though they sometimes get upset with the misconduct of students, they still care. Even though it is very hard for them, they are always forgiving. The students of CHS are very grateful because their futures depend on the faculty's ability to keep them in line. For this, faculty thank you very much.

Friends Forever

Before the class of '93 lies the open book of life. As our high school years come to a close, a chapter ends, but a new one unfolds. Classmates will venture in many directions, but from time to time their paths may cross. Dreams, both big and small, will be realized by some, yet shattered for others. The love and support of this class will be reflected upon often and strengthen many in the days ahead. Giving up hours of chatting on the phone, trips to the mall, and cruising after ballgames doesn't mean we'll be giving each other up as friends. For the 1993 Seniors, the welcome will never end. A life time is not too long to live as friends!

A True Game Boy

Part of being a Senior means you have the privilege of strutting your stuff. The boys in the Class of 1993 took advantage of this privilege as they took the stage for the 1993 Mr. Senior Contest.

It took a great deal of work, practice, and an indefinite amount of make-up. Brian "Babelicious Brianne" Townes captured the crown as he tantalized the judges with "Expression" by Salt n' Pepa. The second runner-up, O.J. "Outrageous Olivia" Williams, was also featured in this talent exhibition. Jason "Jasmine" Alderson was the first runner-up and sang his way into the judges' hearts. The third runner-up position was won by Richie "Madonna" Dingus as he confessed to being "Like a Virgin." Finally, Tony "Trisha Tonette" Porter wrapped up the court as he claimed fourth runner-up. It takes grace, poise, personality, and quite a lot of nerve to participate in this special event. These "true beauties" will be remembered and adored forever.

Bethanie Bratton

At The Waterpark

The weather at the Senior Day picnic on May 25 could be described as "cloudy and cold" due to the rain that hampered the use of the Senior League field, but seniors at Castlewood made the best of a bad situation and decided to engage in water warfare for the entire day at the fairgrounds. For those who didn't desire a water bath, they had the entire exhibit building at their disposal for activities such as tossing football or frisbee. When activities slowed down, the Seniors could swallow their choice of a steak and baked potato or the good old-fashioned hamburger. All in all the day was a huge success, and the CHS Seniors could go home, dry off, and worry about working off the banana splits they just devoured.

A Moment of Silence

On Sunday, May 30, 1993, the graduating class of Castlewood High School attended their Baccalaureate Service held by the Russell County and Castlewood/St. Paul Ministerial Associations.

David Gray led the invocation and Rev. Don Nation gave the welcome. After Rev. Weaver's sermon and the benediction delivered by Kim Mullins, the Seniors left with one thing in mind — their right to prayer had been perserved.

Which way do we go... Bradley Crabtree, Barry Johnson, and Chris Alexander seem to be hypnotized while Tony Porter and Danny Bell wonder what's the hold up.

Friends Are

There comes a time in every person's life when they must leave their childhood and venture into the real world. For the graduating class this time was the night of June 3, 1993, their graduation night. They had worked very diligently for this event the past thirteen years and it finally arrived. This occassion marked the most important and proudest moment of their lives.

Fifty-eight seniors filed into the auditorium one last time together, their faces gleamed with joy, but still held a touch of sadness. They were remembering all the good times they had shared at Castlewood High School and how much they were going to miss spending their lives with each other. As Co-Valedictorians David Wells, Tara Rectenwald, and Michelle James and Salutatorian Skip Proffitt gave their farewell speeches, it brought back fond memories.

When the graduates had received their diplomas, they reflected on how they had grown these past few years and how they would use this symbol of dilligence to grow even further. Congratulations to the class of 1993 and best wishes for the tough road ahead.

Once upon a time, spring was in the air and an epidemic of senioritis spread across the land. In an attempt to find help, we wandered off into the woods. Before we realized what was happening, numerous arrows skimmed the tops of our heads. When we looked up, a tree stood before us with "The Enchanted Forest" carved into the bark. In panic we whirled around to discover Robin Hood (Brian Townes) was aiming the arrows toward the Sheriff of Nottingham (Jamey McCurdy). Robin Hood's merry men, Little John (John Paul Shortridge) and Friar Tuck (James Hall), rushed to our rescue. While running toward us, they were captured by none other than Captain Hook (Wade Dickenson). When fleeing for safety, something from above swept us off our feet. Once we realized what had happened, we were flying through the sky with Peter Pan (Chris Alexander) and Wendy (Rebecca Powers) as our guides and Tinkerbell (Crystal Proffitt) fluttering behind. A melodious whistle caught our attention, and as we looked down, we discovered the Seven Dwarfs — Bashful (Skipper Proffitt),Dopey (Scott Smith), Sleepy (Randall Skeens), Sneezey (Jimmy Little), Doc (Craig Mullins), Grumpy (Barry Johnson), and Happy (David Gray) — whistling while they worked their way toward Snow White (Kelly Blackson).

Our guides let us off at a luxurious mansion. We sneaked a peek in the window with Little Bo Peep (Regina Byrd) only to gaze upon a dance floor full of royalty. We scanned the guest list to find such names as: Belle (Cindy Baker), the Beast (David Wells), Cinderella (Jennifer Sutherland), Prince Charming (Steven McCoy), Sleeping Beauty (Earlene Kincaid), the Prince (O.J. Williams), Aladdin (Kendal Newberry), and Jasmine (Alicia Talford). For entertainment, the Genie (John Keith) and the Fairy Godmother (Kim Mullins) were granting wishes by the dozen. Goldilocks (Bethanie Bratton) and the Three Bears (Cliffy Howard, Nicole Thomas, and Shannon Edmonds) were serving hot, cold, and just right bowls of porridge. Wandering around the yard, Little Red Riding Hood (Kim Burke) asked Hansel (Billy McClellan) and Gretel (Missy Hicks) directions to her grandmother's house. Suddenly, from above the bedroom window, we saw a rope of red hair stream to the ground. As we looked up, we saw the source of this ladder to be none other than Rapunzel (Jill Ramsey) with her Prince (Todd Ingle) by her side. At that same moment, we heard the Wicked Stepmother (Shelly Keith) demanding," Rapunzel, get that hair back up here!"

In hopes of crashing the royal party, the Three Wicked Stepsisters (Barbara Phillips, Joy Neece, and Kay Phillips) with glass slipper in hand, started up the ladder. In search of "the fairest of them all", the Wicked Queen (Kelly Taylor) plotted her way into the mansion in hopes of finding Snow White so she might offer her a poisonous apple for an appetizer. As we left the Giant's (Kenneth Hurd) mansion longing to feel our feet on the ground, we started down a huge beanstalk only to pass Jack (Kevin Salyers) on the way up. Upon reaching the end of the beanstalk, we leaped onto the yellow brick road. We heard the clicking of heels, and in astonishment, we saw Dorothy (Rebecca Milton ) along with the brainless Scarecrow (Danny Bell ), the heartless Tin Man (Jason Alderson), and the Cowardly Lion (Chris Axsom) running toward the Wizard (Tony Porter) and the Good Witch of the North (Rebecca Tiller), trying to escape from the Wicked Witch of the West (Tara Recktenwald). As we wandered on, we passed Gepetto's (Chad Bickley) toy shop where Pinnochio (Eric Chaffin ) was being displayed in the window. Sitting next to the door on a tuffet was Little Miss Muffet (Gwyn Lee). Suddenly we heard the tramping of hooves on a bridge. We determined it must be the Headless Horseman (Bradley Crabtree ) chasing Ichabod Crane (Jamie Cline). We reached the carved tree where our journey had begun and leaned back to take a rest. Alice (Buffie Dorton ) from Wonderland tapped us on the shoulder. She led us to a tea party where we passed TweedleDum (Chris James ) and TweedleDee (Craig Mullins ) arguing over who is the better musician. "I'm late, I'm late," proclaimed the White Rabbit (Ronnie Marshall) as he rushed by us. After the delicious tea, we decided it was time to get back to our own world. Upon our arrival we found our own Prince Charmings and lived happily ever after.

To relieve the stress of books, papers, and homework assignments Castlewood students can participate in a variety of clubs. These organizations benefit the students in several ways. Often sponsors encourage members to go out of their way to achieve fundraising goals. In return the money is spent on parties, dances, field trips, and other enjoyable activities. The funds are also used to benefit persons in need.

Students Chilling Always

The SCA, other wise known as the Student Co-operative Association, plays a big part in the life of Castlewood High School. The sponsors, officers, and members are busy all year round. This was the first year as sponsors for Mrs. Kiser and Mrs. Musick, and boy did they have their hands full. From planning football and basketball homecoming to Halloween and Valentine's Day, not a month went by that the SCA was not busy planning something. These students were always willing to sacrifice their free time to help with some job, no matter how small or how big.

Take it from an SCA member, there are days when you think your legs will fall off from running here and there. The feel of a project succeeding makes it all worth while. The President, Vice President, and Secretary must show leadership, dedication, and be willing to do a lot of work. They couldn't do it without the help of those oh so patient sponsors. Mrs. Kiser and Mrs. Musick worked overtime just for the satisfaction of a job well done. The 1992-93 SCA school year was a very successful one and all the members were very proud to be a part of it.

FBLA Spells Responsibility

One of the most popular clubs at CHS is the Future Business Leaders of America. Each year the FBLA takes on many new members as well as new projects and jobs. Some of these include such things as the ice cream party, business competitions, and the FBLA country hoedown, for which the members learned and taught popular country dance steps. While all of these projects were very enjoyable to the FBLA members, it meant one thing — responsibility. The members of FBLA put a lot of time and dedication into all their projects. It takes all these factors plus the direction of their fearless leader Mrs. Pat Huff, that has put the FBLA over the top, and made it such an outstanding club at CHS. Together the members prove that FBLA combines fun and hard work to produce success.

Outburst

A strong speaking voice, a well chosen piece, and the love for literature are some of the qualities needed to be a member of the CHS forensics team. It takes a certain flair to make a forensics piece come alive and to make the audience see and imagine the event without the assistance of props or makeup.

There are also those who use their abilities of persuasion. Original Oratory and Extemporaneous Speaking are two categories that give the competition the opportunity to inform others about conflicts in society.

Many members of the CHS team excelled. Wynonah Bush placed first in Original Oratory at the Smoky Mountain Invitational. Other winners were Becki Wallace and Joey Hulsey.

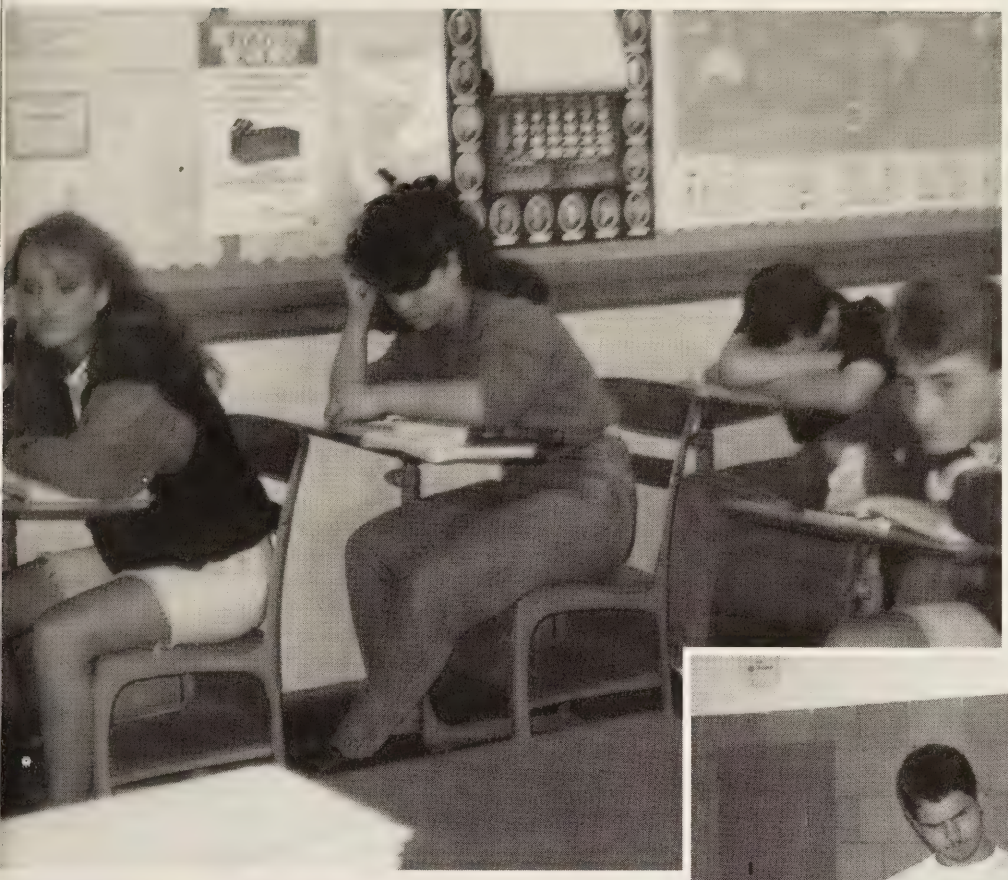
Skipping Classes



1993 was a year of change at Castlewood High School. A new block schedule was proposed for the second semester, consisting of alternating the seven class periods, and cutting out two classes every day. Each class would be missed once a week. The catch was each class period was lengthened to an hour and twenty minutes from the usual fifty minutes. Overall, the new block schedule provided for a very interesting second semester.

Name That Tune

Many of the Devil fans were trying to play "Name that Tune" at the ballgames this year. The 92-93 Blue Devil Marching Band played many familiar tunes. They included: "Unchained Melody," "Don't Let the Sun Go Down On Me," and their favorite-"Achy Breaky Heart." Some of the fans probably wondered if Ms. Pruett had changed the normal marching band we were used to into a hip dancing one. On most cold Friday nights you could see and hear the Blue Devil Band playing and dancing for the crowd.

"Note"ability

The Blue Devil chorus has nothing to be ashamed of. They are few in number but big in talent. This group of young individuals spend many hard, dedicated hours on their stage performance. The hard work pays off when they perform together and get it right. The time shared by this group will be cherished for several years to come. Who knows? From this collection may come the next Garth Brooks or Michael Jackson. Only time will tell.

Just for Girls. . .NOT!

The Future Homemakers of America are a large and everchanging group. Not only have they added members, but they are also coeducational. FHA is not "just for girls" anymore. Boys as well as girls now represent this club.

This year may have been the most sucessful yet, with special projects such as a trip to cooking school and adopting grandmothers at the rest home. These future homemakers are proving they can do a lot more than clean house and bake cookies.

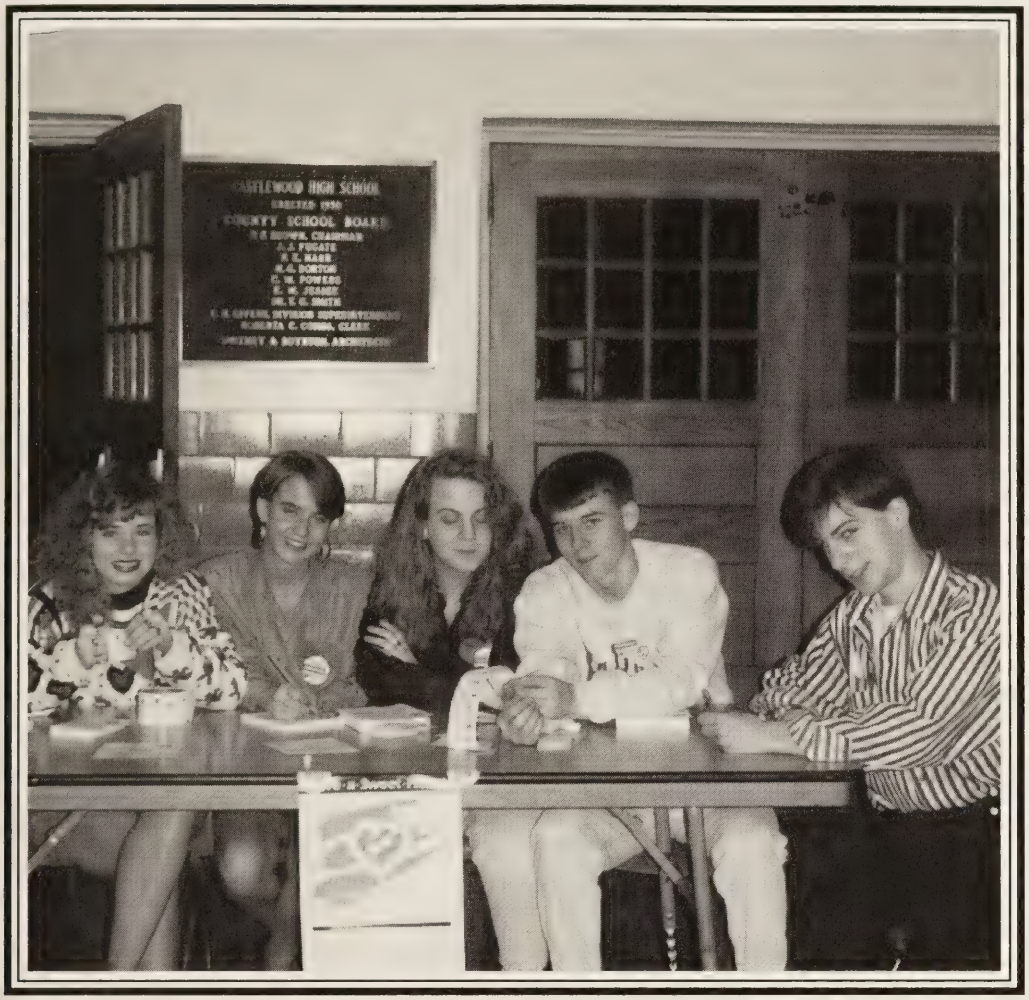
Making a Difference



One of the most important clubs at CHS is the Students Against Drunk Driving Chapter. SADD was formed to educate teenagers about the dangers of drinking and driving. This past summer several students attended the annual Youth Alcohol Drug Abuse Prevention Project Conference. They included: Summer Ramsey, Jessica Holbrook, and Crystal Proffitt. This conference is held yearly to teach youths how they can help educate the public. The sponsors for the SADD are Susan Dickenson and Brenda Johnston. The SADD chapter is recognized for its dedication to such a good cause.

Trivial Pursuit

The 1992 Academic Team began practice for their winning season on September 1st. With new members and a new coach, the first few weeks were hectic. The categories caused everyone to wonder about signing up for all this extra studying.

The season began with Castlewood competing against Honaker at home. The team defeated Honaker by a landslide. Lebanon's defeat of Castlewood was not as encouraging. However, in the final two matches, the Castlewood team achieved the winning scores. A tie-breaking match was held to determine the county champion; Castlewood was victorious.

The 1992 season was excellent for the Castlewood Academic Team. They proved their ability to learn information on many topics by becoming County Champions. Congratulations to the 1992 team!

Going for the Gold

The Beta Club at Castlewood High School is an elite group of prestigious and dedicated young adults. These individuals apply themselves to their academics and strive to achieve their personal goals. To be inducted into the Beta Club is a great honor. The new inductees for the 1992-93 school year were: Lena Taylor, Jessica Holbrook, Robin Musick, Angie Mays, Lori Saddler, Chris Street, Tim Kase, and Allen Mullins. The Senior members were recognized at graduation as they proudly displayed their gold Beta sashes. These members were: Bethanie Bratton, Michelle James, Tara Recktenwald, Skip Proffitt, David Wells, Tony Porter, and Barry Johnson.

Technical Difficulties

Dedication is the Name of the Game. It takes studious, hard working individuals organized together to form a winning JETS team. JETS is an acronym for the Junior Engineering Technological Society. The members of this elite team must be exceptionally talented in the areas of math and science. Both of these groups displayed great determination by placing second in their competitions held on February 19th at Virginia Tech. Each member gives a special thanks to their exuberant coach, Mr. Hodges, for taking time out of his busy schedule to help organize this team.

The first ever Virginia Science Bowl Competition was held on February 27th in Newport News, Virginia. This devoted team consisted of the following: Bethanie Bratton, Michelle James, Tara Recktenwald, Steven Sproles, and David Wells. Although the team did not place, they learned a valuable lesson; to be a winning team each and every indidividual must participate to the best of his or her ability.

Dungeons and Dragons

If the Journalism class was asked to write a story about the year, there would probably be two different versions. The first one might go something like this. . .Long, long ago (well, not too long ago) in a far away land (well, actually nearby) there lived a wicked queen — Queen Battleaxe. The queen had 23 stepchildren who were forced to do long hours of hard labor. She could be heard for miles (well, around the castle) yelling orders and threatening that deadlines were near. To keep the children from complaining, the queen would put picture stickers over their mouths and beat them with pica rulers if they didn't obey. Oh, how they wished to escape!

The other version — Once upon a time there was a beautiful queen with 23 wonderful children. She was so sweet and caring and praised them endlessly for their hard work. After they finished their chores, they were allowed to play. The children finished writing a wonderful book and they all lived happily ever after.

To make a long story short, the Journalism class is a lot of work and a great deal of fun, no matter how the story goes. Each student could find a happy ending in a well-written feature story or a layout that turned out perfect. Their game has only winners.

Freeze Tag

CHS students waited all winter for a really big snow, and they finally got one in the "March Blizzard of '93." This massive snowstorm left snowdrifts ranging from one to five feet making several roads impassible, cutting power and cable lines, and closing the school for nearly a week. The students enjoyed their four-day vacation of sledding, snowball fights, and sleeping-in.

This blizzard brought fun for students, agony for parents, and even brought some families closer together. However, as the snow began to melt, and schools and businesses reopened, one thing remains true — the famous "March Blizzard" will not soon be forgotten.

Standing Tall

Members of the Senior class stood united on May 24, 1993, as they demonstrated their support for prayer in school. Legislators were contacted as the class took a mature approach to protest the Supreme Court ruling on prayer in school. Numerous white ribbons were tied and distributed to individuals and businesses throughout the community. Following the American flag, the Christian flag, the Bible, and a white cross, and a performance of the class song, a mass of white helium-filled balloons soared into the air as reporters and TV cameras covered the event. The unity shared this day will certainly be remembered for years to come.

A Kickin' Week

"The Name of the Game" could have also been "The Name of the Day." The 1992 Homecoming festivities included special activities for the week. On Monday, Blue Devil fans wore their clothes inside out. Tuesday was "Autograph-A-T-Shirt Day." On Hat Day students brought their favorite hats to wear. Thursday was College Day and students supported their favorite colleges. On Friday, the week ended and the students wore the favorite colors of our own Alma Mater. Blue and White Day was certainly a success.

The auction block was open for bids as football players and cheerleaders were sold to the highest bidder. The "slaves" had to stay with their owner all day to do as they were told.

But the day was not over yet. With tremendous excitement we all gathered in the gym for a spirited pep rally. All the excitement ended "A Kickin' Week" at CHS.

It's A Devil Thing!

On the evening of October 23, 1992, the Mighty Devils took to the field for a clash of power and courage, as they faced the Blue Knights of Coeburn High School. Even though the Devils suffered a 19-12 loss, the theme of Homecoming "It's a Devil Thing", held true the whole night.

The Homecoming Court included: Eighth grade attendant-Heather Maxfield, escorted by Chad Mabe; Freshman attendant-Amber Arney, escorted by Barry Johnson; Sophomore attendant-Beth Osborne, escorted by Chris Street; Junior attendant-Billie Meade, escorted by Jason Alderson; Senior attendants-Beth Bratton, escorted by Danny Bell; Buffie Dorton, escorted by Brain Townes; and Crystal Proffitt, escorted by Chris Alexander. All eyes were then turned to the center of the field, where Mr. Steve Banner crowned Buffie Dorton as the 1992 Homecoming Queen.

All classes were well represented with their Homecoming float. The Senior float was victorious with first place. This gave second and third places to the Eighth grade and Freshmen classes respectively. Mrs. Rita Deal was chosen as the guest of honor for this festive night. After all is said and done the 1992 Homecoming was really — A Devil Thing!

"G'day" From Down Under

Six foreign exchange students graced the halls of Castlewood High School during the month of September. These six Australian youth had the privilege of experiencing the culture of Southwest Virginia firsthand.

Although they were from a different country, the students at CHS realized that the Australians were teenagers and that they had a lot in common with the CHS student body. The students at CHS drew very close to these exchange students and some lasting friendships developed.

The CHS students felt very honored to host these youth and learned a great deal about their culture.

That Ghoulish Face

On October 30, 1992, the students of Castlewood High School showed their school spirit while participating in the Halloween activities. The SCA sponsored a dress up contest. Students dressed as funny and scary characters then walked on stage to compete in the three categories. In the Best Group category, Jared Morgan and Buffie Dorton won 1st place as "Pepsi man and his wife." First place for Most Orginal went to Crystal Scarberry as the "Handyman." Best Character was awarded to Jennifer Long for her witch costume. The participation in this contest proved that even high school students are not too old to enjoy Halloween.

With each rapidly changing school year more and more fads come and then go as quickly as they came. It is, however, a mystery as to what will cause a fad to develop and catch on, and what's an even bigger mystery is the latest fad at CHS. This is also popularly referred to as the cowboy fad. Although no one can seem to give a definite reason for this sudden country appeal, it can easily be seen to anyone who cares to roam the halls of CHS. These popular guys and gals who seem to prefer this rough country image can be found with their Clint Black cowboy hats, boots, and oversized belt buckles. The cowboys are no longer considered to be redneck as more and more of the student body have come to drive pick up trucks and rank Garth Brooks equally as high as Metallica. Whether this is a passing fad or not is yet to be seen, but one thing is certain — you don't have to go all the way to Dallas to find a Cowboy.

Love Me Tender

Several students saw the sight of roses, and felt great expressions of love on the Friday before Valentine's Day, February 12, 1993. The SCA sponsered a "club fued" which was held on that morning. Three clubs participated in this: Journalism Club, Beta Club, and the FBLA Club. This game was played as Family Feud is on T.V. In the first round the Journalism Club lost to the Beta Club. Then the FBLA had to face off against Beta. FBLA victoriously won. The King and Queen of Valentine's Day were announced afterwards. The King was Lee Davis and the Queen was Earlene Kincaid.

The End of an Era
Can't Hide the Pride

The 1993 Basketball Homecoming was an extremely special one at Castlewood High School. Not only was the 1967-68 men's basketball team honored, but it was also the last game that was played in the J.E. Carter Gymnasium. On this memorable evening Michelle James, escorted by Danny Bell, was crowned the 1993 Homecoming Queen. Her court consisted of Seniors - Crystal Proffitt, escorted by Skip Proffitt, and Kim Mullins, escorted by Barry Johnson; Junior — Summer Ramsey, escorted by Brett Talbert; Sophomore — Shannon Casteel, escorted by Daniel Jessee; Freshman — Kristy Leonard, escorted by Scott Smith; and Eight grade - Elizabeth Sabo, escorted by Brian Townes. For all the players, coaches, and Blue Devil fans, this truly was the end of an era. The J.E. Carter Gymnasuim was full of everlasting memories that shall live forever in the hearts of Castlewood High School alumni. However, the new gymnasuim, with its larger capacity, has room for an infinite number of memories in the future. It makes no difference where you look for them, the Blue Devils just can't hide the pride.

Stairway to Heaven

Spring was in the air on April 24 as the Seniors were guests of the Juniors at the 1995 prom. The stairway was placed in the center of the gymnasium and a balcony with illuminating stars were located at the top. The tables and floor were lit up with glowing lights and shimmering glitter. Prom colors were black, silver, and white.

Juniors and Seniors alike enjoyed the formal event and, of course, the main topic of conversation was who wore what gown and who came with whom.

Traditonal awards were presented with Jason Alderson and Crystal Proffitt being crowned King and Queen, and Brett Talbert and Alecia Holley crowned Prince and Princess. Prizes were given to people who stayed for the final dance and students actively participated in "Prom Promise."

"Stairway to Heaven" was one of the most memorable for CHS and all who attended will have long lasting memories to carry with them.

Boot Scootin' Beauties

On April 14, 1993, something exciting took place. The curtains opened, the lights came on, and the beauties came out. Cowboy boots, red bandanas, tight-fittin' jeans, and white shirts were the outfits worn. A country dance, Boot Scootin' Boogie, was performed. Everyone agreed that these beauties put the "C" in Country! Jr. Miss CHS contained nine contestants and Miss CHS contained fifteen. Both were difficult decisions. One lucky, beautiful girl in each catagory would be chosen.

CHS Oscars and Grammies

The 1993 Awards Day at CHS was a very sentimental one for the faculty, staff, and many students. Mr. Hensdill and Mr. Banner received gifts from both the Senior class and the SCA. The Woodsmen of the World award was presented to Tim Kase for his achievements in history. Michelle James and David Wells were recognized for receiving scholarships to Emory and Henry College. GOOD

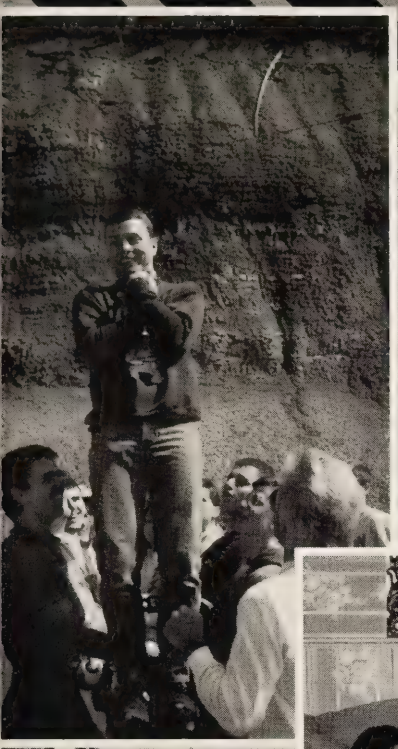
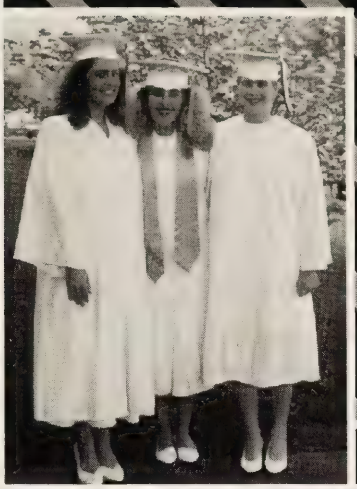
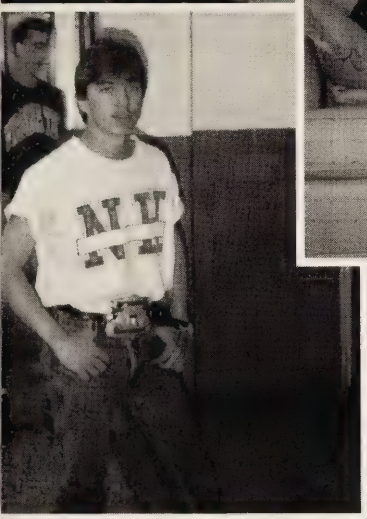
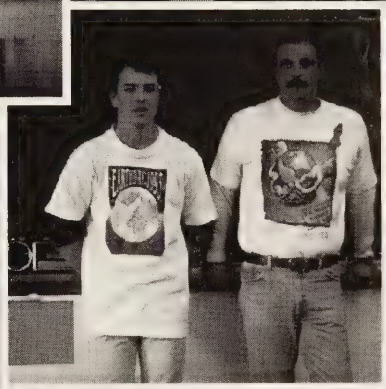
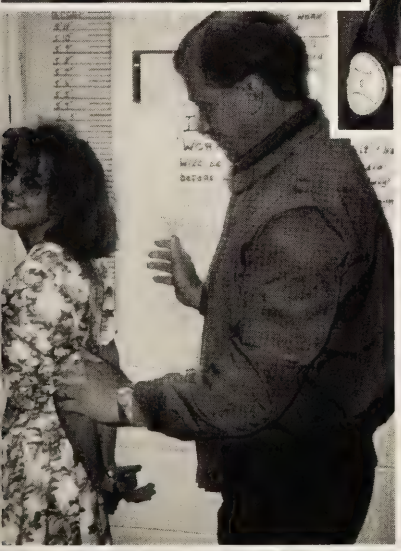
TIMES











Classic Concentration

Many students think the word mathematics means addition, subtraction, division, and multiplication. Each student who chooses to take this subject finds out that it is harder than he or she imagined.

It may seem easy for some students, but many struggle in different areas. There are general math classes, such as Math 8 and 9 and Consumer Math. Students who are preparing for college in the future may take courses such as: Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Calculus.

Whether one is taking a general math course or a more advanced class, each student must work diligently to have a successful year. Working to their fullest potential, they acquire the knowledge needed for a bright and successful future.

The English classes that are offered to students at CHS require a lot of hard work and dedication. There are basic English classes and advanced English classes offered to above-average students.

Many of the students think English may be boring and just a requirement. There are words and definitions to learn, books to read, sentences to write, and essays to prepare. No matter what the assignment, each student must sacrifice something, because time and effort are two important necessities required for English.

The English classes here at CHS are not all work and no play. With the help of the fun-loving teachers, English can be exciting, interesting, and entertaining.

CHS is abundant in business classes. They include: Accounting, Typing, Computers, Word Processing, and Office Systems. These classes require many skills and patience. The business classes help each student prepare for their future in the world of business.

The students who chose to take a business class may also join the FBLA, Future Business Leaders of America. Students who join this club learn about the ways different businesses are run.

Many are also chosen to compete in business competitions. These competitions allow the students to travel to different schools and colleges. This gives each person an opportunity to exercise his or her business skills.

Chemical Attraction

Science classes at CHS take many different forms. Courses that one might be interested in taking, or are required to take, are listed as follows: Science 8 and 9, Biology I and II, Chemistry, and last, but not least, Physics. These courses require vast amounts of study, both in the classroom, and at home. Science projects, lab experiments, and most dreadful of all . . . dissecting, are just a few of the many aspects of science CHS has to offer. Effort and dedication are the key factors to an enjoyable, yet educational learning experience. Fortunately, we students here at CHS have the privilege of knowing that we can always depend on any of these extraordinary teachers to help us out in our time of need.

"History Repeats Itself"

"We the people". . .One may encounter this famous guote from Thomas Jefferson when entering any classroom at CHS dealing with history. History has been drilled into our young, curious minds from the beginning of our high school years, up until the day we graduate. World and U.S. History inform students about how our nation was born, while Government explains the means by which our nation survives. On the other hand, geography educates students on how the formation of our world came about. Although some students claim that history is "too hard to handle", he or she usually discovers that the year's course is never as complex as it seems.

When it comes to great works of art Castlewood High has many wonderful artists.

The Name of the Game Is. . .

Sports at CHS take on many faces. But one thing holds true for every sport; it takes a special state of mind to play the game. Practices may be tough, but in the long run, those extra sprints will pay dividends in victory. The greatest motivator of a athlete is the feeling of hearing one's name announced and the roar of the crowd when the team takes the lead with only seconds to go. The name of the game is pride.

The members of the Mighty Blue Devil football team definitely knew what it was like to be in jeopardy. Each day they put thier lives in danger. Some of them were injured, but some defeated the game by remaining unharmed.

The Blue Devils faced many fierce opponents this year in the Hogoheegee district. Unfortunately, the Devils faced defeat more times than they achieved victory. The team ended with a disappointing record of 2-8.

Eight senior members said good-bye to their teammates this year. They each showed great spirit, dedication, and pride in their team. These seniors were: Jason Alderson, Chris Alexander, Bradley Crabtree, Richard Dingus, Todd Ingle, Barry Johnson, Tony Porter, and David "Wildman" Wells. We will always be proud of them and look toward the younger players who will fill their shoes.

Double Dribble

The 1992 CHS girls' basketball team experienced a season of few "double dribbles." Posting a 17-5 record, this talent-filled team showed great pride and spirit. The Senior members were the backbone of the team, showing leadership both on and off the floor. Buffie Dorton, Kim Mullins, and Beth Bratton will never be forgotten.

Sophomore Shannon Casteel had a strong year and shows a promising future for the Blue Devils, as well as Niki White, Monica Porter, Angie Bush, Valerie Taylor, Missy Turner, Becky McReynolds, and Amy Combs. The outlook is promising for Sabo's Devils in the years to come, and these young ladies will continue to excite and amaze the crowd with great talent. Dig or Die

The 1992-93 volleyball team had a taste of something new this year. The team had only one returning starter, leaving five new positions to fill. Fortunately CHS is loaded with talent. Although this team was young, the girls ended their season with a record of 8-9. Volleyball is not only a fun sport, but also a strenuous one. Like all other sports, it takes hard work, time, and dedication. Of course this group of lovely young ladies like to goof off, but with crime comes punishment. Coach Allen's punishment includes a list of the following: jumping the net, running halls, and the deadliest of them all - suicides. These girls have a certain uniqueness that sticks out above all the rest; the ability to work together as a team. A special congratulations to Buffie Dorton who earned all district honors, proving that hard work does pay off. With the departure of three seniors — Buffie Dorton, Crystal Proffitt, and Kelly Blackson — the "Dig or Die" legend will continue for many years to come.

Get With The Program

The 1992-93 basketball season could easily be described as "long and unfortunate" to those fans who only attend when teams are playing well, but many will speak of victory. Although wins and losses count for nearly everything in the sport, the 92-93 Blue Devils were all winners where it counted, in their hearts.

Senior O.J. Williams played masterfully during the entire season, earning first team all-state honors. A promising college future awaits in the years to come. The other Seniors: Skip Proffitt, Scott Smith, and Brian Townes, were the teams emotional leaders.

As the Blue Devils move into the new gym, a new generation will don the blue and white and take the floor for another exciting season. But one thing can be said about the 92-93 team. The Blue Devils went down fighting and left everything they had on the floor.

Girl Talk

Dedication, many long hours of hard work and practice, and strong lungs are what cheerleading is all about. Cheerleaders always have a smile on their faces and are ready to motivate the team for those big games. But, cheerleading does have its drawbacks, such as those cold, rainy nights during football season and slaving over a dance routine for half-time at the basketball games. The cheerleaders also plan pep rallies, decorate the school with signs, and auction themselves off to raise money. The 1992-93 cheerleading squad consisted of the following girls:
Bethanie Bratton, Stephanie Boyd, Kindell Ring, Jan Dickenson, Beth Osborne, Allison Buckles, Catrina Mullins, Amber Arney, and Mrs. Linda Miotke, sponsor. Go Big Blue!!

The 1992-93 Blue Devil Wrestling team truly earned the title of the "badboys" of the Hogoheegee District. The wrestlers spent many long and hard hours at practice trying to achieve their legal weight and to get the conditioning they need to perform well in the matches. As a team their hard work and dedication payed off. The devils had a record of 10-1 overall in regular season and earned two district titles, undefeated district champs and district tournament champions. The only loss of the year came to Coeburn, which the Blue Devils cradled, spladeled, and disabled earlier in the year.

The Blue Devils had three individual district champions: Jason Alderson, Tony Porter, and Shawn Kiser; one second place, Todd Glover; two thirds, Chris Alexander and Stacy Harrington, and one fourth place; Richie Dingus. In the regional tournament Jason Alderson was the 130 pound Regional champ; Shawn Kiser was Regional runner-up, Chris Alexander and Richie Dingus received a fifth place finish which qualified all for the final tournament, State. Jason Alderson accomplished a third place finish in the State Tournament.

In The Long Run

"I think I can" is on the mind of every Blue Devil that runs track. The 1993 team put in much effort to succeed in their competitions. Coaches Tom Allen and Larry Shortt do an excellent job with this branch of athletics at CHS. Buffy Dorton was one of the athletes to excel and go on to the district meet. The CHS track team is just one more reason to have that "Devil Pride."

Up an away. . .Buffy Dorton aces the high jump.

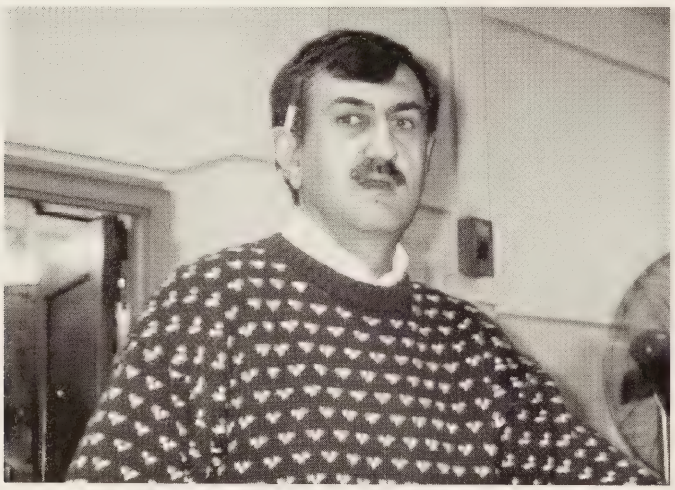
Man of the Year

A teacher, a coach, a friend — this man is all of these. He always has a cheerful hello and a warm smile for everyone. These are just a few of the reasons why he is a favorite with the students here at CHS.

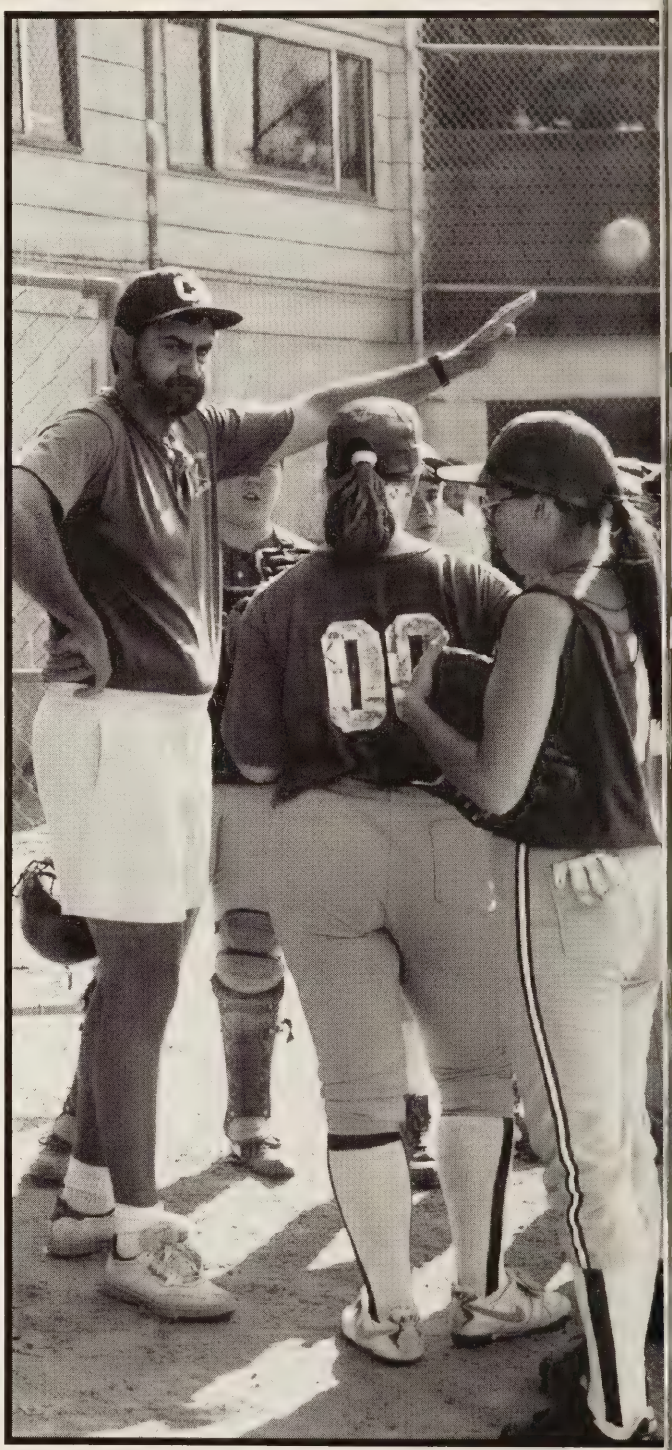
Being a man of many talents, he is eager to make eighth graders feel welcome and Seniors sad to leave. Serving time on cafeteria duty, he makes sure everyone has enough to eat, breaks up fights, and signs numerous passes. All this he does cheerfully, never showing impatience.

Coach of the Year — definitely! Especially for those he has coached. Working with each athlete on his or her strong and weak points, a great friendship develops between coach and athlete. The team soon becomes a family with him as father figure. To the students at CHS, he is Teacher and Friend of the Year as well. For all these reasons, the Castletonian staff proudly dedicates the Sports Section to Coach John Sabo for a job well done.

Kim Mullins



Don't I know you?. . .Coach Sabo gives a knowing look to a student requesting yet another restroom pass.



Break it down. . .The girls' softball team gathers around Coach Sabo to plan their strategy before the game.

I'm working, really. . .Coach Sabo gives us his fabulous smile while he takes a break from class.

Hands up defense. . .The "arms up" sign reminds Sabo's team to play good "D".

No Mercy

The 1993 Lady Devil softball team was one of the most successful teams ever at CHS. With a regular season record of 20-0, these young ladies impressed many.

All the girls showed a strong will and determination to be their absolute best. Without Coach Sabo, this team could not have been half as successful. Their biggest fan was in the dugout beside them throughout the season.

Bethanie Bratton

Teaming up. . .Front: Monica Porter, Valerie Taylor, Becky McReynolds, Kelly Blackson, Beth Bratton, Misty Gibson, Shannon Casteel, Niki White, and Charity Phillips. Top: Becky Powers, Summer Ramsey, Amy Combs, Kristi Leonard, Amber Arney, Missy Turner, Brooke Hall. Hit and run. . .Beth Bratton relays the signals from Coach Sabo to Charity Phillips on first base.

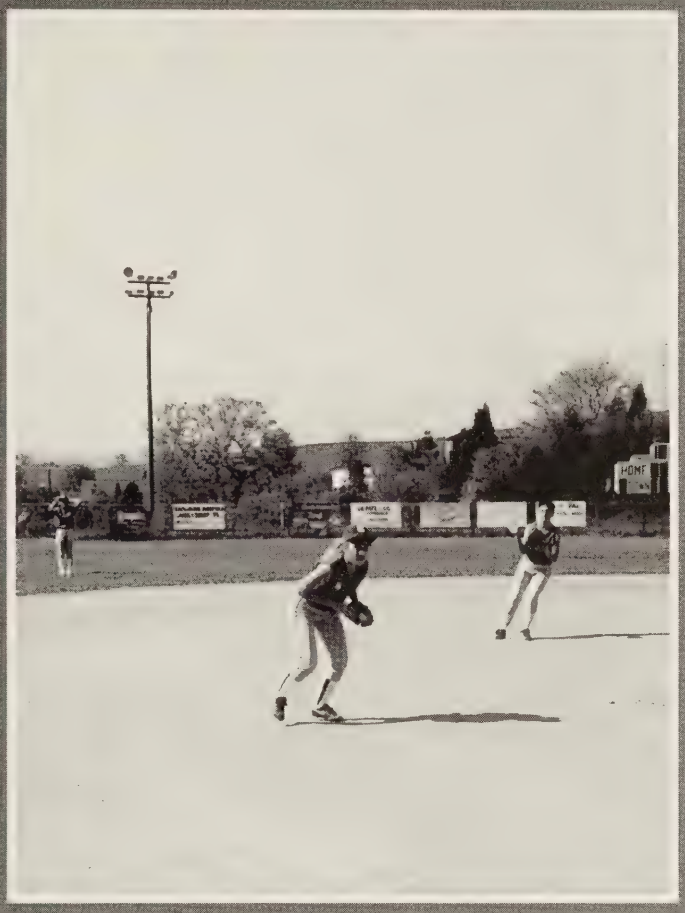
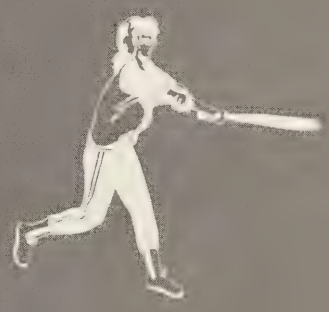
Swing batter. . .Charity Phillips busts the ball for a beautiful homerun.





Got it. . .Beth Bratton fields the ball to stop a runner at first.

Batter up. . .Kelly Blackson connects for another RBI and advances the runner.

Future Shock

Junior Varsity sports at Castlewood definitely proved fruitful for the 92-93 season. Each J.V. team had a great year and the future looks bright for CHS athletics. Success is the name of the game for these soon-to-be main attractions at CHS, and the experience these athletes are gaining will prove invaluable in years to come. Watch out for these great athletes who will be packing the new gym beginning next year.

Hard Ball

The 92-93 baseball team at CHS was one of the most unique teams around. They played as a team and stuck together throughout good and bad. Coach Dan Glass and Assistant Coach Darrell Taylor took great pride in watching their team take on some of Castlewood's biggest rivals. With only four Seniors, all of them excellent players, this team has more stunning, class-act talent coming up for next season. This baseball team kept their heads up and showed their Devil Pride through the Regional playoffs. With their proud record of 15-3, they certainly showed their fans an outstanding year.

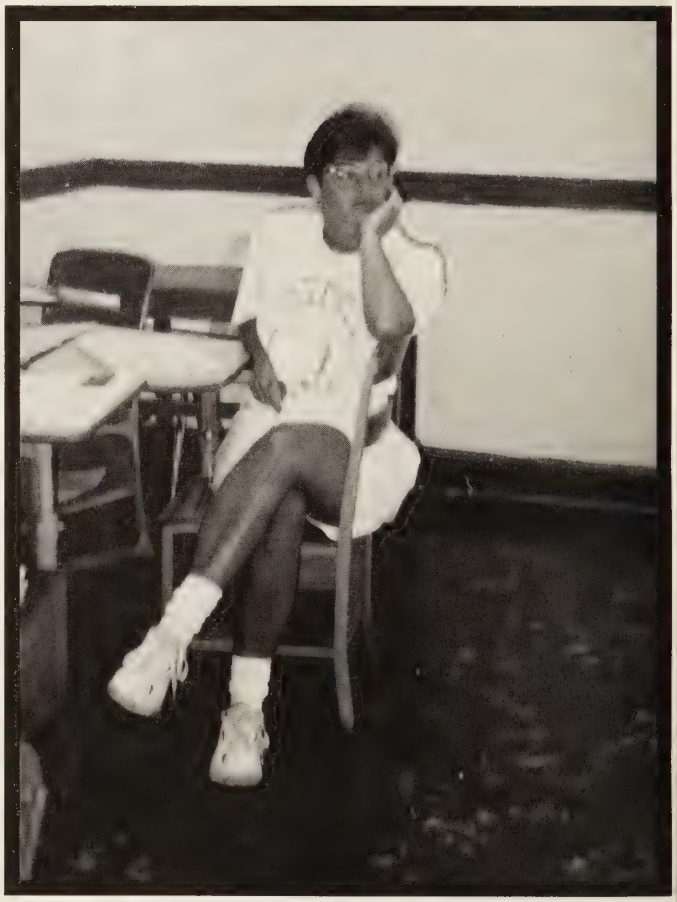
Leaving Blue

Saying goodbye is something that has always been hard to do. This year got even harder when CHS had to see another faculty member leave. A very smart, sweet, kind, and pretty lady, Mrs. Sherry Kiser came to CHS in 1988 and has made herself a name as both teacher and friend. She has given advice to many students and has helped them through some very troubled times. She taught them not only English but the ability to think for themselves. Thanks for all the good times and memories and we wish you the best of luck. We will miss you.

Summer Ramsey

Blowing it out. . .Mrs. Kiser blows out the candles on her party cake while her Seniors look amused.

All for me. . .Mrs. Kiser looks very pleased with her surprise party from her many adoring students.



Another hour?. . .Grades get checked during the long hours of Mrs. Kiser's teacher workday .

That Helping Hand

Students at Castlewood could always be spotted standing in the guidance office waiting for Ms. Hall. Rita Jo Hall has been both a soft voice of comfort to the troubled student and a diligent future planner for CHS Seniors. Without her guidance through the cyclones of adolescent life, students would have had a much tougher time coping with their many problems. As she moves to a different school, she will certainly be missed. We wish her success in her new position and thank her for being there for us.

Brian Townes

In step. . .Ms. Hall and Mr. Banner demonstrate their dance steps at the '93 prom.

Saddling up. . .The guidance counselor also uses her ability to guide away from the job.

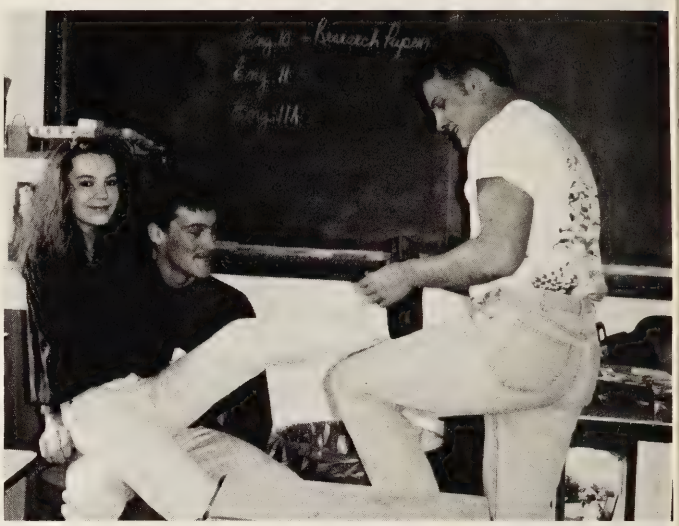
Representing our school. . .Ms. Hall graciously welcomes Mary Sue Terry to CHS for a graduation ceremony.

. . .It's How You Play the Game!

As the 1992-93 school year comes to an end, so does this round of play. Seniors, don't back up ten spaces, but keep advancing forward. You just passed GO. For the rest of the students at CHS, there will be many games ahead, so keep playing to win.

As we pack up the pieces, put the game in the box, and put it back on the shelf, remember that each and every one of us is a winner. In the game of life, we need only to play fairly and be a good sport. Being a winner means more than just coming in first.

Kim Mullins



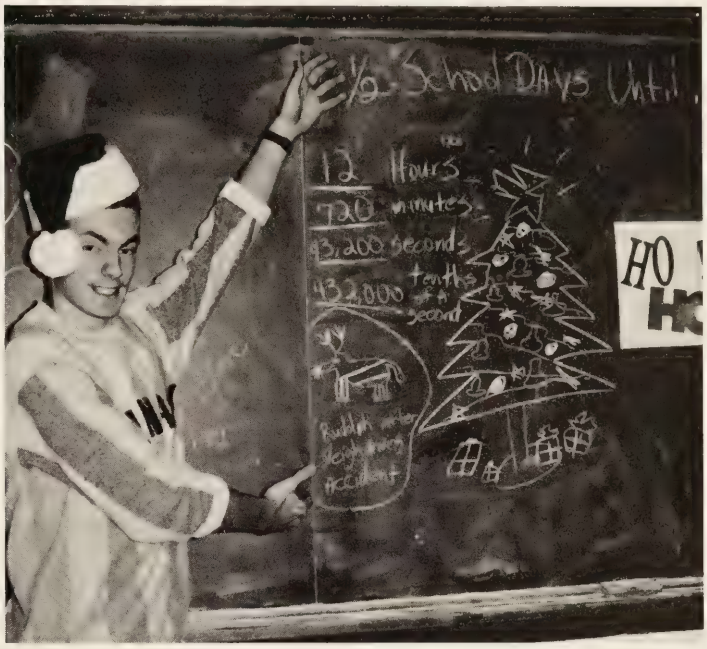
Equality rules. . .Phillip McBride ties Jackie Holmes' shoelaces for her with support from Scott Smith.

Sharing space. . .Stacie Dorton shares her lap with Sheri Steffey so she can take a load off her feet.

Fill 'er up. . .Mr. Milton has that satisfied look after his meal while Mrs. Huff savors her free lunch at the Senior picnic.

Artsy. . .David Wells, O.J. Williams, and Mrs. Harding check out the latest artwork on their field trip.

Counting down. . .Brian Townes shows off his famous calendar in Mrs. Wright's room used for holidays and graduation countdowns.



Extra antennae. . .John Paul Shortridge gets rabbit-eared by an unknown while Steve McCoy, Chad Bickley, and friends cut up.

Who is that masked man?. . .Could that be the Wildman sporting a new headdress around Tony Porter and Skip Proffitt.
